Mrs. Von Kossovsky and little daughter Josephine left Saturday noon for Smyrna and Coronado Beach, where they expect to spend the summer.

Miss Dickinson is moving the Crenshaw cottage further north on the same lot, and putting under it brick piers and building a kitchen.

Mr. and Mrs. Hood have Mr. and Mrs. Richardson and son, from Satsuma, visiting them. They came Monday and leave today (Wednesday). Mr. Richardson was at one time a comrade of Mr. Hood in the camphor business.

We received a letter from Mrs. Nellie Palmer saying they all arrived in Eau Claire Thursday evening all right. She stood the journey very well. Her friends here will be glad to hear this.

Miss Irene Scott left Saturday for Ft. Pierce to make a visit to her friend, Miss Ethel Molsinger, who is stenographer for Will Tylander at that place.

Mr. Wm. Chisholm and family are located for the summer at Bluffton, Ala. They are keeping house.

We are glad to learn that colony of people that were to come here this spring have put off the event until after the rainy season. Hope they will do some investigating between now and then. We think by the letter you published last week, there is at least one who would be glad to be enlightened at some one's else expense and trouble! Well, it takes all sorts of people to make a world.

Miss Nellie Martin returned from Daytona last week. She is not quite certain whether she will return to Daytona or not.

Miss Helen Dozier left Deland Wednesday of last week for Atlanta, where she expects to join her mother and little sister Elizabeth. Her father received a letter Monday saying she had arrived safely and had a good and pleasant trip. They will be away until fall.

Miss Massey, who spent the month of May at Arawana Lodge, returned to town Tuesday. Mrs. Raymond has taken her place for the month of June.

Felix Molsinger came home Sunday to visit his family; he is working on a farm near Seville. He returned to his work Tuesday.

Mr. Penn, Mrs. Penn and Miss Webster leave here Thursday morning for Jacksonville, where they will visit Miss Lois Penn until Saturday, when they will sail for New York on their way to Shelton, Mass., where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. Clifford and sister, Mrs. Richardson, Mr. Joseph Clark and wife, Mrs. Hood and little Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Morse, Miss Helen Manville and Mrs. Keelen all leave Friday for different points in the North to spend the summer.

A card from Mrs. Isabella Dunlap informs us that she arrived safely home on Thursday. She says she had a hot trip and found everything fine in Nashua when she arrived.

There are several very pretty and desirable lots for sale in Orange City now that are bargains for anyone who wants to have a winter home here in the healthiest place on the green earth and the best water in the world. Now, who speaks first?

LAKE HELEN.

Rev. Mason Noble and family have gone to their new home at Inverness, to the great regret of all our town people. Mr. Noble was one of our most public-spirited men, always having the welfare of the town at heart, while Mrs. Noble, with her sweet, womanly ways, was beloved by everyone.

Mrs. Irene Adams and her friend, Mrs. White, left last week for their Northern home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Jenkins will spend the summer in Lake Helen, to be near Mr. Jenkins' mother, who is in quite poor health.

Peaches are being shipped daily now, Mace & Son sending off some very fine ones. While the crop was cut short by the February cold snap, the quality of peach is very fine.

Miss Jessie Pelton has closed her school at Emporia and is home for the summer. Miss Jessie is one of Volusia county's most popular teachers.

Mrs. Ellis Blake and Stephen leave for Chicago this week. Stephen was one of Stetson's college seniors this commencement, and will take the extra work and get his degree from Chicago University also.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Mace and Miss Marjorie leave for Ohio about the middle of July. Mr. Mace staying only long enough to see relatives and old friends and returning by way of New York, taking the steamer trip down. Mrs. Mace and Marjorie return in time for the opening of the fall term at Stetson University.

Mrs. Wakefield is visiting friends at West Palm Beach, while her mother, Mrs. Davenport, will spend the summer at Miami.

The many friends of Mr. Arthur Pelton, who went to Atlanta some time ago for treatment, are glad to hear that he is improving.

Mrs. Luffman goes to Connecticut soon to spend the summer with relatives. Another lonely man will be left in the pine woods.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Arabi Clarkson entertained the Ladies Aid, about twenty ladies being present. By request Marjorie Mace, one of the senior academy graduates from Stetson, gave us her graduating essay, "The Girl of Yesterday," which was much enjoyed. We were also favored with some very good recitations by Miss Minerva Bond, who is home from Murfreesborough, Tenn., where she has been attending school the past year, and expects to graduate from there next year. Delicious refreshments of grape juice, straw, strawberry ice cream and cake were served.

Dr. Zanders is out of town this week attending a meeting of medical men at Gainesville.

Mr. Jay Sheldon is clerking in Pelton's store this summer.

Mr. Loring Mace and wife were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Voorhis on Sunday last, spending the evening on the river in the "Almeda II," while Master Harold entertained his grandparents at "Edgewood."

Mr. Hubbard is still furnishing strawberries to the town people, and we are having such an abundance and variety of vegetables, it makes us all say that Florida is a pretty good place after all.

Now for a snake story, by an eyewitness. A gentleman had been missing eggs from the hen house, also from under the setting hens. Also china nest eggs began to disappear. Going in one evening there was a large chicken snake, which was speared at once and brought to the house, where it was at once pronounced as twelve feet long, but the man said it was just about five feet, with three very round humpy places down his back, which made us think of our china nest eggs. Sure enough there were three all in a row. Now this is a pure and sure enough snake story.

WELL INFORMED.

The stranger—"Do the people who live across the road from you, Rastus, keep chickens?"

Rastus—"Dey keeps some of 'em sah."—Christian Advocate.

LEE COUNTY PETS

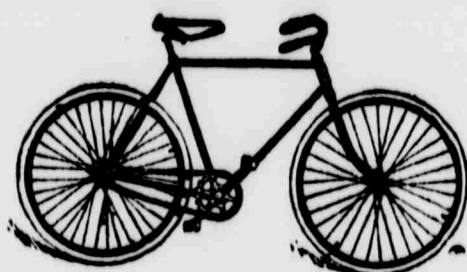

Last Saturday Dolph Carson, one of the best all-round hunters in the state, who resides at Immokalee, came in the city with two bear cubs which he shipped to T. J. Reynolds at Montgomery, Ala. They were fine specimens and Dolph tells us that they are plentiful out there, several persons having pets around the place. They are mighty cute pets as long as they are small, but of course they cannot run loose after they get to be some size.—Fort Myers Press.
